Sending secure email messages: instructions for clients

If you want to send confidential or sensitive documents to the Ministry of Justice or agencies in its administrative branch, it is advisable to do so using the Ministry of Justice's secure email service. The service is easy and safe to use and free of charge.

If you want to send documents to the agencies in the Ministry of Justice's administrative branch, please use the service at <https://turvaviestiom.fi>.

When sending a secure email message, insert the necessary identification information to the subject field, content and attachments of your message. This way, the recipient (for example, the registry of the Ministry of Justice) knows who sent the message and what it pertains to and can forward it to the right person.

1. Go to <https://turvaviestiom.fi>. Write your email address in the From box and click on Continue.
